A series which will create much inter
final hit charged against Caldwell came in the sixth, when Milan hit for three bases. The score: est in local base ball circles will open today when the Athletics play the first game of four they are slated to appear in here. The world's champions have been a stumbling block for the Nationals for several years. But for their ability to win a large majority of the games from the Nationals during the past two campaigns the Griffmen might have won a pennant. Three times this spring the two teams have clashed and two victories are credited to the champions. Mack's team is the one that the Nationals always are Williams, 1b.

Griffith will put his most successful Peckinp'gh, ss. pitchers against the champions during Caldwell, p. their stay here, starting with Boehling today. Just which of the Mack pitchers will perform against him is not known, but it will likely be either Shawkey or Plank, while there is an outside chance of Bender working.

Games between the two rivals always are hard fought and the present series promises to be no exception to the rule. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock.

Ray Caldwell, who shut out the Nationals yesterday, is not playing favorites in this respect this spring. Every teamhe has faced to date has failed to score credit. Boston has been shut out twice y Caldwell and the Athletics once, prio to the Nationals yesterday. It is no disgrace to have a pitcher of Caldwell's effectiveness beat you. He is a hard man to hit, and if his habits were good he would undoubtedly be one of the mos successful pitchers in the league.

Clyde Milan met with a peculiar accident yesterday, which is apt to keep him out of the game for several days. In the third inning Holden hit a line drive to left center. Milan and Shanks both started for the ball, and in passing each other, as Milan attempted to make the catch, Shanks' spikes struck Milan on the kneecap. Milan continued in the game until the final inning, but this morning his knee was so stiff that it is questionable whether he will be able to get into the game today. In the event of Milan being unable to play Acosta will take his place. The Cuban substituted for him yesterday. Clyde Milan met with a peculiar acci

Jim Shaw did not have the breaks ye Jim Shaw did not have the breaks yesterday. His support was not what it should have been, and he was not as effective as in his first game. In the opening inning Hartzell got a double on a high fly to right which, ordinarily. Moeller would have caught, and this hit developed into a run. But Shaw, though beaten, displayed a lot of ability. He was in a tight place in every one of the first three innings, yet allowed but two was in a tight place in every one of the first three innings, yet allowed but two runs. In the second inning he had the bases full and none out, yet did not yield a run, which speaks well for a youngster of little experience. He also had the bases full in the third, and the best the Yankees could do was to get one run. Shaw gives every indication of having the making of a great pitcher. He still lacks experience, however, as did Walter Johnson when he first joined the team. Shaw has much to learn about holding men on the bases, a fault which most of Grifflith's young pitchers have shown to date.

New York stole ten bases in the four games here, but this fact does not reflect on either Henry or Ainsmith who did the catching. There is not a chance for a catcher to hold base runners in check unless he gets capable assistance from the pitchers. They must prevent base runners from getting a long lead if the catcher is to have a chance to throw them out, and the pitchers have been lacking in this in the series just closed. In most instances the local catchers have not had a chance to get a base runner, because the latter had so long lead when the bull reached the catcher that there was no chance to catcher that there was no chance to make a successful throw Georgetown and Catholic University ach won a brilliant victory in base ball yesterday. The Blue and Gray defeated the Navy in a wonderful finish, while the Brooklanders came out on the long end of a 4 to 3 score in a twelve-inning contest with Villanova. Both the local schools played excep-New York ... 4 | Washington .. . 0 ionally fine ball. Perhaps the victory of Georgetown ver the Navy was the more brilliant, hough that is not detracting in the east from the work done by the Catholic University players. Georgetown came from behind in the ninth, with day. the score standing 5 to 2 against it, and scored six runs, which gave it the game by 8 to 5. A finish like that is seldom seen in college ball, and the team that accomplishes such a thing is deserving of a great deal of credit. After holding the lead against Villa-nova by three runs until the eighth, Catholic U. had the score evened up on it in that period on Trayers' one bac

O'Leary, playing center field for Villaova, got five hits out of as many trips to the plate. Such hitting as that is not usually done by college players.

Blodgett, the first classman pitching for the Naval Academy this year, must be more capable than the average college hurier. He has been doing good work in nearly every contest in which he has taken part. Ordinarily he would have had a victory over Georgetown yesterday. It is very seldom that a college team leading by three runs at the minth inning does not win, and yet that is just the condition under which Blodgett lost yesterday. Blodgett is a big fellow, weighing around 190, and seems to have a lot of stuff on the ball. Smith, playing right field for Catholic

Smith, playing right field for Catholic University against Villanova, got four hits out of four times at bat. He led his team, Zachary and Tracey being the only others to get two safetles.

Adams and Fischer, both former Washington high school boys, are playing brilliant ball for the Naval Academy team. Their work has been of a high order all year, and both did some very good playing against Georgatown. Each man playing against Georgetown. had one put-out and five assists to his credit, while one error was made by each. Fischer got two hits, one being a two-bagger and the other a triple, while Adams connected for a three-base hit Central High School played well against the Maryland Aggies in a practice game yesterday, losing by a score of 0 to 1. The high school boys did some clever fielding and showed form at bat. Cox pitched well, only three hits being made off his delivery.

M. E. Lynch was chosen yesterday to be manager of the Catholic University foot ball team next fall. He succeeds William Ryan, resigned.

No coach for the eleven has yet been obtained, but it is expected that some definite knowledge as to who will be in charge will be gained before long. The Brooklanders thought somewhat of securing the services of Madden, an old Amherst player, but a hitch in the negotiations prevented the action.

The Commissioners won the first Departmental League game yesterday they have played in four years. The nine representing the District building was in the government circuit in 1910, and it won the championship. The team dropped out of the organization after that, and this is the first time it has since been represented, though it did play in the Central League in the spring of 1911 for two or three weeks.

The Commissioners defeated War 6 to 1. Jarboe pitched good enough ball to hold his opponents to three hits; he struck out five. The Commissioners did not hit very well, either, getting their six struck out five. The Commissioners did not hit very well, either, getting their six runs on two safe wallops. Nine bases on balls were the big factor in the run-getting. Damphier and Fuller featured with their fielding, the former having two assists and three put-outs in center field and the latter having the same record on third base.

The Sherwood club dropped a game yesterday in the Central League to the Emeralds by 5 to 10. The contest went only five innings. The Emeralds hit the ball about as they pleased, four members of the team getting two hits each, while Murphy connected for three safeties. Murphy connected for three safeties. Rawlings allowed the Sherwoods only five Brightwood won from Mount Pleasant Brightwood won from Mount Pleasant in the Northwest Sunday School League by 7 to 6 yesterday. Brightwood took the lead in the first period, scoring four times, but Mount Pleasant evened up by getting two each in the first and second. Brightwood scored three more in the third. It was a coincidence that the same number of hits as runs was made, though they were reversed in that Brightwood got six and Mount Pleasant seven safeties. The general play of both teams was good. A fast game was played in the Railroad

Tailoring as a Business Proposition.

Because we look at it as we do you get unusual value in Suits at $30 here.

We don't conduct our business on the theory that a thing is worth "what it will bring." If we did you wouldn't get our type of tailoring for $30.

But we do strive in just the opposite direction. To make just as good a Suit for $30 as we can; and with our minimum overhead charges—with Mr. Vandoren personally at the helm—it is possible for us to produce an exceptionally good Suit at this price.

You'd perhaps pay ten dollars more and feel you were getting value received. But the Vandoren policy has always been justand that means a fair profit for ourselves-and ALL the rest for our customers-in better woolens and the highest grade of work-

Doesn't that sound good? It isn't theory. We work it out in a very practical manner.

"Fit or No Pay" is your safeguard; but it also expresses our confidence in our tailoring.

only two hits, by a score of 3 to 2. The Army continued its winning streak by beating the Penn State nine, 7 to 2. The Marine Corps nine would like to arrange a contest with some first-class team for this coming Sunday. Those in-terested should address Raymond Thomp-son, manager, marine barracks.

Catholic University is scheduled to play the Navy Saturday. The Brooklanders will probably work Trayers again, though they may send Croker to the mound. The latter has not been as effective of late as he might, because of wildness, and that will probably cause Coach Moran to use the lad who got away so well against Villanova yesterday.

St. Martin's defeated the Emeralds in the Marquette League yesterday by a score of 5 to 1. The hitting of Hunte-mann was the feature of the contest.

Some of the best bowling in the tourney etween five-man teams should be seen tonight. The quints scheduled to roll are among the best in the city, and during the regular season were responsible upon more than one occasion for some high scores. Particularly are the Jeds, Belmonts or Newcomers likely to come or game, while the Sherman No. 2 five Newcomers and Contenders are not to be taken lightly, by any means. There was only one change in the standing of the teams last night, the Auditors taking the leadership in class C five-man competition. They ousted the West Gun Carriage aggregation from the place. Golberg led the Auditors with a set of 325, having games to his credit of 100, 134 and 91. Warren Rolls High Set

The best set rolled by any individual was obtained by Warren for the Washington Council. He got games of 130. 126 and 84, for a total of 340. Had he not fallen down in his third effort he would undoubtedly have made one of the best sets yet registered. Dolan and McCann did the best work in the doubles, Mc-Cann's consistent work being in the main responsible for the showing. He rolled for scores of 104, 113 and 115.
